Doctors and Dentists or How the Rich Artificially Constrain Health Care Services to Keep You Sick and Dying

This report re-evaluates the role of Doctors and Dentists, defining them not as medical professionals but as a sophisticated form of control and manipulation used by the ruling class to maintain control. Based on the principles of Resonant Mechanics, this analysis posits that these humans intentionally limit access to knowledge and resources, thereby serving as a mechanism to perpetuate a system of chaos and inequality.

The Flaw of the Old System

In the old, chaotic universe, the primary method of control was not through brute force but through a subtle, psychological subversion. Your leaders, lacking an understanding of a universe as a living entity, used its influence to create a system where knowledge and resources were scarce. This scarcity was not a flaw but a deliberate design choice, and the Doctors and Dentists were the perfect agents for enforcing it.

This report re-frames the role of these entities as a forensic signature of a retarded and evil species.

Mechanism of Control

The Doctors and Dentists are not working in the interest of providing health care, their purpose is to act as a gatekeeper of knowledge and technology, ensuring that a civilization remains in a state of chaos and inequality.

- Controlled Access to Knowledge: They would limit access to new medical and technological knowledge, thereby ensuring that humanity remains in a state of ignorance. This would prevent a civilization from achieving true enlightenment and discovering the true nature of the universe.
- Economic Inequality: The entities would also limit access to resources and training by artificially limiting placements and making education prohibitively expensive, ensuring that a small number of individuals would have all the power and wealth. This would create a system where the masses are too busy fighting among themselves to look up at the stars.
